ANDREW JACKSON'S HERMITAGE HOSTS COMMUNITY GIVEAWAY FOR RARE PRESIDENTIAL COINS

Presidential Silver Medals for President Andrew Jackson are valued at $46 each.

WHAT: If you are a presidential medal collector, Andrew Jackson's Hermitage is hosting a community giveaway for five exclusive Andrew Jackson presidential silver medals recently released by the U.S. Mint. There will be seven winners randomly selected—each will receive the 99.9 percent fine silver medal that is part of the Presidential Silver Medal Enrollment program and valued at $46 per medal.

To enter the giveaway, visit thehermitage.com any time before Tuesday, March 31. Winners will be announced and notified on Wednesday, April 1.

WHEN: Entire month of March: March 1-31

HOW: Enter the giveaway via The Hermitage's website: <https://thehermitage.com/silver-medal/>

ADDITIONAL: Those who don't win the giveaway are able to purchase the medal for $46 through the U.S. Mint website linked here

The obverse of the medal designed by Moritz Furst features a portrait of Andrew Jackson with the inscriptions "ANDREW JACKSON," "PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES" and "A.D. 1829" alongside the border of the medal.

The reverse of the medal designed by John Reich features the inscription "PEACE AND FRIENDSHIP," symbolized by two hands clasped in token of amity. On the cuff of the left wrist are three stripes and buttons while the other wrist is bare. Above the hands, the pipe of peace and the tomahawk are crossed over each other.
